Millennials and other users embrace technology and demand the latest solutions. Organizations are meeting these demands by deploying tools that offer both increased flexibility and productivity.

Modern users, especially millennials, demand the ability to work from anywhere, at any time, on any device.

- 75% The percentage of employees who rank workplace flexibility as their top work benefit.
- 71% The percentage of organizations that reported increased productivity as a result of their mobility program.
- 83% The percentage of users who said the right collaboration tools can help them remain productive, regardless of time or location.
- 55% The percentage of organizations that say their BYOD programs are aimed at improving employee productivity.
- 39% The percentage of organizations that identified security concerns as the top inhibitor of BYOD adoption.
- 8 out of 10 The proportion of information workers who said solutions such as digital workspaces better support collaboration, productivity and engagement.

Organizations are striving to deliver bring-your-own-device capability to help users remain productive away from an office environment.

Users demand the ability to communicate on a variety of media and to work collaboratively on documents and files.

A partner can help organizations on the road to delivering mobile productivity.
